

Birds of a Feather?

Phil Paik 2 posts since

Oct 10, 2007

Does anyone know what Birds of a Feather is?

Thanks for replying. ^^

Arnold Sese 7 posts since

Feb 11, 2008 1. Re: Birds of a Feather? Aug 19, 2008 6:30 PM

Not sure what VMWare's intent is but at TechED it was basically a user lead group of like minds. Higher Education, Health Care, HPC, etc.

rexchoi 11 posts since

Sep 19, 2007 2. Re: Birds of a Feather? Aug 21, 2008 9:34 AM

<http://www.vmworld.com/conferences/2008/networking/bof/>

Our interactive Birds-of-a-Feather discussions will be held in the seven networking lounges, designed around the seven VMworld Tracks.

Birds of a Feather?

They are designed to stimulate ideas and insight into a variety of virtualization topics and expand upon the knowledge you gain during sessions and labs. You can attend scheduled discussions covering specific topics, or more informal topics that you can suggest when you visit the lounges. Become an active part of the discussions about virtualization and share your knowledge and ideas with everyone.

Phil Paik 2 posts since

Oct 10, 2007 3. Re: Birds of a Feather? Aug 21, 2008 9:48 AM in response to: rexchoi

Thanks for the reply guys. I think I signed up for too many BOF >.<...