They advertised this:

Download Presentations Online VMworld 2008 presentations will be available to download the weekend before the event using the Schedule Builder tool. Avoid the rush—be sure to download your session presentations in advance.

I can't fidn them either. They keep saying the sessions they are available...they aren't as far as I can see.

Someone is going to get into trouble!

I was told these would be available on-line a week ago, but the website now states that they will be posted by the end of the month. Frustrating isn't it??

So, I posted the presentation that I gave on Advanced Performance Tuning on VI3 at the link below. It contains the Notes section with my script and links / references. enjoy:

<Link removed by administrator... sorry... ericni25>

Where are the presentation downloads?

You can however download John's "Performance Tuning of VI3 " slides from VMworld06 which is now free to all vmworld.com members at the following link:

<http://www.vmworld.com/vmworld/static/sessions/2006/TAC9872.html>

To see all free performance tuning presentations use the following search:

http://search.vmware.com/search?entqr=0&access=p&restrict=&output=xml_no_dtd&sort=date%3AD%3AL%3Ad1&ie=UTF-8&btnG=VMworld_Sessions&btnG.y=12&client=VMworld_Sessions&q=performance+Tuning&filter=0&num=5&btnG.x=15&ud=1&site=VMworld_Sessions&y=0&oe=UTF-8&proxystylesheet=

Thanks

Hi John,

We have been pretty up front that the presentations will be available on VMworld.com to all registered users of the conference within 2 weeks of the conference ending. We have also been very clear to all conference attendees that all presentations are available in schedule builder and that schedule builder will stay online until we have the streaming sessions available to conference members on VMworld.com

We will also be posting the pdf's and mp3's of all the sessions on VMworld.com for those who attended the show. In mid-october we will also offer a online membership for those people who didn't attend the show, but would like to view show content.

What we are not doing is posting sessions in the public domain, VMworld sessions and related material is considered conference material and is reserved for conference members who have paid to attend the conference.

Where are the presentation downloads?

Thanks

I have yet to find them in schedule builder. VMWare keeps saying that but no one can find them that I know of. Anyone at VMWare care to post a link so I can see that I am looking in the wrong place?

I will remove it right away from our website. I did not realize it was a problem.

sorry.

Where are the presentation downloads?

As required, I removed the posting of my the Performance Tuning presentation.

I will keep an eye out for the presentations on VMworld.com. I expect we will see a clear link or notification on front page. I expect that the presentations may include audio, so it should be good!

I must have gotten bad info just prior to giving my presentation. I was told I could tell the audience that the presentation would be available for download the very next day. sorry about that.

Eric, the only reason I created this post right before VMworld was I got an email from VMware saying come get the presentations before the rush in the schedule builder starting the weekend before VMworld...but of course no one can find them in the schedule builder.

go into schedule builder, session catalog, 2nd column called "session files". Not all sessions but many have the presentations there that you can click on to download.

I no longer have the schedule builder as an option. Is there a URL someone can post?

Thanks
