

How much does SAN-based snapshots and...

---

Tony Dunn 261 posts since

Sep 10, 2007

How much does SAN-based snapshots and the replication software cost?

kirks 11 posts since

Sep 10, 2007 1. Re: How much does SAN-based snapshots and the replication software cost? Sep 21, 2008 10:00 PM

The Equallogic products ship with all software options included in the base price.

bassface 1 posts since

Nov 25, 2007 2. Re: How much does SAN-based snapshots and the replication software cost? Sep 23, 2008 11:39 PM

With HP SAN additional licenses are required to utilise snapshots and/or replication.

Business Copy does snapshots and comes in 1 TB, 2 TB and unlimited licenses per array. Costs vary but expect to pay between $8000 and $15,000.

How much does SAN-based snapshots and...

Continuous Access does cross site mirroring and comes in 1 TB, 2 TB and unlimited licenses. It requires a license for each site. I haven't seen a quote for these but I would expect they are more the Business Copy.

BTW Licenses are not transferable:

From <http://h18006.www1.hp.com/products/storage/software/bizcopyeva/qa.html#13>

Q13. Can I move my HP StorageWorks Business Copy EVA Software license to another of the same model?

A13. No, Business Copy EVA Software licenses are non-transferable. If you are upgrading between models, there are license upgrade options available.