Virtual desktop manager and pano

Hi,

do you have a Pano if yes then prees the Help in the PanoMgrpage, there should all be you need to do the right configuratio. Or what are you looking for in Detail (All of pano is a big range)?

Jas - Pano Logic has a booth here in the VMworld.com virtual pavilion - it can be found at www.vmworld.com/community/exhibitors/panologic - the booth here has some background information on Pano Logic's zero-client hardware and the Pano Manager management software including a number of customer case studies. However if you're looking for more detailed technical information there is the complete documentation for the current Pano System 2.6 release online at <http://help.panologic.com> and there is more information available at Pano Logic's main website at www.panologic.com

I'd also be happy to help you with any questions.
