

Mac User

Nancy 1 posts since

Feb 2, 2009

I am not sure if I am in the right place for this question. I have VM Fusion installed on my Mac along with Windows XP Pro. I am not able to connect to the internet. Wondering if anyone could help m e

John Lester 2 posts since

Feb 6, 2009 1. Re: Mac User Feb 6, 2009 1:25 AM

Hi Nancy

I'd really go to the VMWare support forums for this, but just as a thought. Are you trying to "dial up" the internet from the Windows XP install? My guess would be that Windows is trying to control your internet access when VMWare will actuall do that for you and simply passes your Mac internet connection through.

If you're using software in Windows to connect to the internet, just get rid of it and VMWare should do the rest for you.

Failing that, I'd try here :- <http://www.vmware.com/products/fusion/support.html>

Mac User

I was using Fusion v.1 and everything just worked with no tweaking. To be fair, I was using VMWare to access my BootCamp installation of Windows, so that could be different.

Good luck