

Lab Manager vs. Workstation - for...

Andreas Eidissen 1 posts since

Jan 14, 2010

First off I'm fairly new to VMware solutions so I might just not see the whole picture. What I'm after is more managing of the VMware Workstation brilliance in SnapShot views and debugging capabilities. And where hoping VMware Lab Manager would give me the possibility to create a more widely use of VM's instead of just a single person as with the Workstation, And let the whole team in on it. But there is no built in views of the clone diversions, plus there is no connection between Visual Studio. How would you do this or is it possible with Lab Manager? (LiveLink)

Asked some similar questions on VMware.com but didn't get the answers I where looking for, and surely no discussion around it. There seems to be more views here at VMworld.com so I give it a new shoot with some other angles to the question.

Tags: workstation, lab_manager, visual_studio, snapshots, debugging, livelink